

Treasured by children and storytellers for over 75 years, Tajar Tales has delighted many generations of children. First published in 1924, author Jane Shaw Ward created the stories about Tajar in a childrens camp in the Colorado Rocky Mountains. Retold in camps and family circles ever since, these delightful folktales remain rich in fantasy and imagination. The story takes place in a forest camp near the end of camping season. The whimsical Tajar is something like a tiger, something like a jaguar, and something like a badger. He loves to dance in the moonlight, but must not be seen by the campers, because if you see him once, you would forget what he looked like, but if you should see him twice you would forget to forget what he looked like and that would be quite fatal. His forest friends include charming old Madam Witch, who makes her home in a magic tree, and the Range Ranger who ranges the ranges in that region and is responsible for the forest and its creatures.
