molasses 2 tbsps of hot pepper sauce Salt and ground black pepper to taste 5 tbsps of cider vinegar 8 Kaiser rolls, split

Directions In a bowl, combine garlic powder, brown sugar, two tbsps of black pepper, and two tbsps of salt, red pepper flakes, and paprika. You should rub the spice mixture over the pork butt, put the lid on, and then store in a freezer for five hours or over the night. In a pressure cooker, pour the beef stock and half cup of the hot sauce. And then stir in three tbsps of honey, maple syrup, one tbsp of molasses, and four crushed garlic cloves. Now in the pressure cooker, place the pork butt, and then close the pressure cooker lid, and then over high heat bring up to low pressure, then reduce the heat to low, keeping it at low pressure, and then cook for two hours. While the pork cooks, you should make the coleslaw. In a bowl, mix mayonnaise, one teaspoon hot sauce, Dijon mustard, one teaspoon salt, white vinegar, and one teaspoon black pepper. Add the coleslaw mix and then toss to coat. Close the lid and then keep in a freezer. Turn off the heat and then let the pressure go down naturally; uncover and then let the pork stand for five mins. Test the meat with a fork, the meat should shred easily; if it does not fall off the bone, cover pressure cooker, and then turn on the heat, you then return pressure cooker to low pressure, and then cook for thirty mins more. You should remove the meat from the pressure cooker, reserving a quarter cup of the cooking liquid. Then shred the meat using 2 forks and then set aside. In a saucepan over medium heat, heat the vegetable oil. And then stir in five cloves of garlic; and cook and stir for about three mins until the garlic becomes fragrant and just begins to turn brown. Then remove saucepan from heat and stir in ketchup, two tbsps of hot sauce, half cup of honey, two tbsps of molasses, cider vinegar, and the reserved cooking liquid. Then season with black pepper and salt to taste. Now, over medium heat bring sauce to a simmer. Fill
